Dr. [ ] reported that he and Mrs. [ ] of the Support School have been working on several ideas for taking this survey. He noted that apparently there was concern in the Support Directorate higher echelon that the survey was already underway and there were fears that it would stir up a legion of female candidates clamoring for the training. Those present were assured this was not the case. All agreed that [ ] would continue framing the questions for the survey and coordinate the questions with Mr. [ ] and his subordinate, [ ]. The Senior Training Officers in the Agency would be the initial point of contact for the survey and they in turn would direct it through the Component Training officers.
